Central Cancels Gus Hall Assembly

Campus Crier

CENTRAL WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE

VOLUME 35, NUMBER 12

ELLENSBURG, WASHINGTON

FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1962

running for the position of treasurer. Those candidates for office who are not present are: Soren Sorenson, candidate for president; Bob Moawad and Jim Mattis, running for vice president; Pat Johnson, candidate for secretary; Sunny Murdock, Dennis Hubbard, Ward Jamieson, and Bill Goodman, candidates for Honor Council.

CWS Cancels Leftist Leader Assembly Talk

Cancellation of the speech by Gus Hall, a leader of the Communist party, at an assembly Feb. 7 at CWS was announced today by Dr. James E. Brooks, college president.

The appearance of Hall on Central's campus was to have been part of a student-sponsored speaker series in which varying views on a wide number of subjects were to be given.

Cancellation of Hall's speech was announced Tuesday night by President Brooks. Protests had come to the college from various state and local people who believed the speaker should not be allowed to address the students.

Legislators Protest

Two Spokane County Democratic legislators had also protested the action to bring Hall here. W. L. McCormick and W. S. Day said they planned to write Gov. Rosellini voicing their opposition. They said in a joint statement, "We do not think the students should be subjected to an address by someone who has admitted to wanting to overthrow the U.S. government."

"Our purpose in letting Mr. Hall speak on our campus was a part of our hope to bring all sides of all questions to the students," Curt Pickett, president of the Student Government Association, sponsor of the speaker series, said this morning.

The speaker series is under the direction of Mick Barrus student vice president, Pickett added.

Pickett, in announcing the cancellation to the student body, expressed hope that Central students would not brand the college administration as "too conservative" in calling off the assembly.

Knew it Was Controversial

"We knew this was a controversial thing when we scheduled this speaker," Pickett said. "We were anxious to have our speakers present views from every side. After conferring with Dr. Brooks, I am sure that bringing this speaker here, with all of the opposition from various parts of the state, would have been damaging to the college," Pickett added.

Dr. Brooks explained to the students that cancellation of the program by Hall meant, in no way, that the college expected its students to receive only one side of every question.

Balance Attempted

"In view of strong feelings concerning Mr. Hall's appearance from those off this campus, I am requesting the students to cancel his appearance. I fear that due to lack of understanding the good name of the college would be damaged if this action were not taken."

CWSC Announces Registration Site

Spring quarter registration will be held March 26 and 27 in Nicholson pavilion, Dr. E. E. Samuelson, dean of students, said today.

All advisors will be in their offices Monday, March 26.

Students must consult their advisor and plan spring quarter schedule between Feb. 19 and Mar. 9. Complete study schedule in ink with alternate course possibilities indicated on the back.

To gain admission to the pavilion a student must present, 1. a study schedule completed in ink and signed and stamped by his advisor, 2. his winter quarter grade report, and 3. his winter quarter SGA card.

Council Capsule

Resolution Faces Reconsideration At Next Meeting

The Honor Council resolution on student freedom, which was authored by Curt Pickett, SGA president, failed by a vote of 10 to seven with three abstentions at the council meeting last Monday night.

Carmody moved that the resolution be passed. When it failed, Paulette Ellingson of Sue Lombard hall moved that the resolution be brought for reconsideration at the council meeting Monday night. This was then seconded by Stephens hall and passed by Stephens hall and passed by the group as a whole.

Dorms Make Reports

Mary Hooper, SGA secretary and chairman of the election committee, asked that the council members ask that their dormitory delegations write a report on the convention with any criticisms or favorable comments they wish to make.

Mick Barrus, SGA president, said that from now on programs of an acceptable nature may be scheduled on campus Sunday after 2 p.m. Students wishing to program events during this time should contact Dr. Samuelson, dean of students. Before events may be planned for this time, they must receive Dean Samuelson's approval, Barrus said.

Incorporation Explained

Roberta Schwarck, SGA treasurer, explained the action which the SGA has taken up to this point on incorporation of the Student Government Association. She was then made a member of a committee composed of Darrel Peoples, and Jim Mattis which was formed by the council to look in the problems concerning incorporation.

Game Tables Discussed

Barrus asked what the council members thought of the idea of replacing the two ping pong tables in the CUB recreation room with two more pool tables. This is a suggestion which was recently presented to the Union Board. In the straw vote taken on the council it was felt that this should not be done since not all dorms on campus have the room and money needed to get their own.

Pickett reported that Vetville and West hall are withdrawing from the SGA council. This brings the total membership on the council to 18.

Department Gives Cadet Information

Deadline for spring quarter student teacher applications has been set for Feb. 9, 1962.

Applications will be available in Ed 314 and Ed 342 classes, and must be submitted at the Teacher Education office.

The dates at which student teaching begins will vary with the different student teaching centers.

Student teachers are to report to Bellevue, Kirkland, Yakima, and Wenatchee on Mar. 19. Vancouver student teachers will report Mar. 26 and Ellensburg student teachers will report Mar. 28.

CWSC Symphony Presents Concert

Central's Little Symphony will present a concert Mar. 12, at 8:15 in the college auditorium. Herbert Bird, Associate professor of music will be guest soloist on the violin. The symphony will be under the direction of Waldie Anderson, assistant professor of music.

The program will feature music by Bach, Handel, Mozart, and Marrek, an American composer. The orchestra is composed of members of Central's student body.

Candidates Set For Campaigns

Richard Davis, Soren Sorenson, and Mick Barrus will be the candidates for the position of president of the Student Government Association when the students go to the polls Feb. 13.

To be placed on the Feb. 13 ballot they had to go through Central's first Nomination Convention, which was held last Jan. 25 and 26 in the College auditorium.

Other students who will appear on the ballot are: Jim Mattis and Bob Moawad for SGA Vice President, Pat Johnson and Kathy Drebeck, secretary; Ruth Friebus, Dick Jacobson, and Toni Ryden, treasurer; Sandy Lewis, Sunny Murdock, Margie Swift, Dennis Hubbard, and Ken Brachen for Honor Council.

Because the constitution states that there must be at least three students running for each of the two positions open for men and for women, Ward Jamieson and Bill Goodman will also have their names on the ballot for Honor Council. The SGA Council nominated them at its meeting last Monday evening.

Campaigning for the respective offices will not be the same as it has been in the past, Mary Hooper, SGA secretary and election committee chairman, said. The main change will be the discontinuing of dorm tours by the candidates set up by SGA. Instead the responsibility of campaigning will be left entirely on the shoulders of the candidates themselves and their supporters. The only exceptions to this are a Popcorn Forum next Thursday at 4 p.m. in the CUB snackbar and a rally Feb. 12 at 6 p.m. in the CUB Ballroom.

After the election on Feb. 13, the winning candidates will follow an apprenticeship period lasting until the ninth week of this quarter when they will officially assume their newly won positions in the student government, Miss Hooper said.

CWS Women Students Win First Quarter Grades Race

The fair sex has indeed shown itself to be superior to the male sex at Central—grade-point-wise, that is. Last quarter, Central women averaged 2.55, beating their male rivals by almost two-tenths of a point. Grade-point average for men was 2.39.

It must be admitted, though, that the male species at Central number approximately 202 more than females. Also, men students carried a slightly higher average of credit hours than did females.

Over-all average for the whole student body was 2.47, according to the director of research, Perry H. Mitchell. He was assisted by personnel in the Registrar's Office in determining grade-point averages and in preparing a table of fall quarter grade-points by housing units.

Following is the table: (In parentheses are the number of students in each housing unit.)

Action Of Pressure Groups Curbs Academic Freedom

Cancellation of Communist Gus Hall's speech by the college president, Dr. James Brooks, came after extensive pressure had been placed on the college by reactionary groups. Pressure levied on the college Board of Trustees, calls received at the Central switchboard and action taken by two Democratic state legislators, W. I. McCormick and William S. Day, of Spokane County, influenced Dr. Brooks in cancelling the speech.

Even parents of some Central students complained to State Senator Marshall Neal after hearing of the proposed visit of the Communist party leader on campus.

Central is not alone in its fight for academic freedom. Eastern Washington State College faced the same problem and due to pressure from local Freedom Fighters and threats of rioting, its student council voted to cancel Mr. Hall's visit. Word was received at Central that such a group had already chartered buses and was planning to demonstrate at Central's assembly next week.

Gus Hall's visit was to be only one in a series of speeches. Representatives from such organizations as the John Birch Society were to be asked to speak, too.

In spite of possible criticism, the Administration, Student Government officers, and the SGA council had originally decided to let Gus Hall speak at Central because those concerned felt that Central students have the right to be exposed to all facets of political beliefs and by so doing familiarize themselves with the political theories involved. Recognizing this need in creating the best conditions for student educational growth, the college agreed to a speech by the national chairman of the Communist Party, U.S.A.

Criticism of such a display of academic freedom is to be expected from those who feel that such a speaker on campus would jeopardize both the college and its students. Surely no one who understands the consideration involved in agreeing to have such a speaker would think this is an attempt to create "party followers" out of Central's mature and thinking student body.

Among the students, there were some in favor and others not in favor of letting Hall speak on the campus. The student council, because of the time element, did not take the decision to accept Hall's visit back to the individual living groups. It is doubtful that students would object to an opportunity to hear both sides of a belief and not totally ignore beliefs that do not coincide with popular opinion. The problem is that when a college community is striving for academic freedom for its individuals, pressure groups, excited citizens, some who are not aware of the whole program and reactionary factions make it impossible for a college to guarantee this.

Only when the mention of "Communism" or the threat of such, no longer ignites explosive reactions among thinking individuals, will the college community be able to guarantee the priceless liberty of academic freedom to its students.

Central Comments . . .

Ticket Taking Questioned

To The Editor:

As I was taking tickets for the Stan Wilson-Lenin Castro concert Sunday, several coeds filed by with the phrase "I'm a Spur. We were given free passes to this concert."

It was a surprise to find out later that only "one" of the executive council of SGA knew about these free passes to Spurs. I'm asking these questions:

1. If Spurs get free passes, why doesn't the Iks?
2. If Spurs get free passes, why doesn't Alpha Phi Omega?

3. If Spurs get free passes, why doesn't Sigma Tau Alpha?
4. What has happened to the "council decision?"
5. How can one person delegate SGA funds in this manner?

Student Cheers Pickett

To The Editor:

The discussion concerning SGA President Curt Pickett's resolution brings to light several inconsistencies which have been present on this campus for several years now.

The administration's right to

control and punish students living off campus, except as their conduct relates directly to school-student relations, seems to embody a flagrant disregard for basic individual rights as defined by American law and custom.

If an individual conducts himself in a manner detrimental to the society in which he lives, he automatically is subject to control by law as administered by our system of courts. It is basic that an individual not be subject to punishment or reprisals more than once for a particular offense.

The fact that the administration has made it plain that it will refuse to abide by the resolution if it is passed does not speak well for student-administrative relations. It is not correct, nor particularly wise to claim the right of accepting that which favors or maintains your position, and refusal of that which does not.

There have been times in the past when pressure has been brought to bear on individuals on this campus who have merely exercised a basic right.

This is not an attempt to rattle old skeletons, however, I find it extremely encouraging to find that at long last we have an SGA President who will represent what he considers to be correct and in accord with general student rights and opinions, regardless of whether they coincide with those expressed by the administration or not.

It is also encouraging to believe that this type of vigorous leadership will lead to an active interest and participation by students in matters pertaining to their general rights and interests.

Only through active interest and free exchange of ideas by the rank and file on this campus can there be created and

Honorary Initiates Member Artists

Four new members of the Alpha Beta Chapter of the National Chapter were initiated Tuesday evening. The meeting was held at the home of Miss Solberg, sponsor of the fraternity. Larry Anderson, Don Coppock, Grace Wilson, and Rhys Court join previously initiated members Bob Purser, Penny Hatzenzieler, Dick Evens, John Skoor, Bob Neal, Allan Mattison, and John Grove.

Alpha Beta assisted the SGA this week by preparing the photography exhibit in the CUB lounge. New activities for the near future include: student exhibits, exchanges with other colleges, faculty exhibits, and field trips. Alpha Beta is sincerely interested in making art a part of everyone's daily experience and to promote new artistic talent. Anyone interested in the arts are invited to attend the meetings.

Sweecy's Election Procedure Results In Enormous Success

With confetti cascading down from the balcony, the pounding of the executive gavel and "Mr Chairman, the Great Star of the North wishes" . . . the first nominating convention to be held at Central Washington State College got underway last week.

From the first order of business, that of adopting the rules, the election bandwagon was in full swing. Rules were hashed and rehashed, minority factions had their say, and the convention formally moved to adopt the rules midway through the evening. Then followed the nomination of candidates with appropriate demonstrations being given for favorite sons and delegation choices.

Response to the convention was heartwarming to those directly concerned with the convention and for those who just came to "sit in". The order of business moved rapidly with the usual time out for caucusing included in the election excitement. The whole spirit of the two-night convention was indicated by the wholehearted enthusiasm with which the delegates stood on record as volunteering to clear the auditorium of all signs and confetti. It was an experience new to Sweecy students and one that will no doubt be a permanent innovation on the campus.

Now that the first glow of excitement is past, candidates have the responsibility to "sell" themselves to the student body. Speeches by the various candidates will be made in the dorms, with an informal session in the CUB planned by Mary Hooper, SGA secretary, so that students may have a chance to question nominees further about their political beliefs and aims for Central.

The convention has been a boost to the typical "election blues" prevalent on the campus in the past. The next step will be individual campaigns underway on campus before the final voting on Feb. 13.

With so much emphasis on issues, such as incorporation, student-faculty control, SGA power, and the National Student Association the campaign should prove interesting.

Perhaps political mud-slinging and back slapping can be channeled into more constructive activities than those of undermining the present SGA in its attempt to finish a term of new reforms and national concern.

maintained a progressive and dynamic institution.

Perhaps through the continued leadership of persons such as Mr. Pickett there can be created an atmosphere in which students take a basic part in matters directly relevant to their own welfare.

Picture Exhibition Showing In CUB

The winning entries from the Oregon State University Spring Solen Traveling Picture Show will be exhibited in the CUB starting Feb. 31.

The pictures are from the entries of over 300 students and faculty members of Oregon State University.

This showing has been viewed by more than 10,000 people during a 2 week showing, Mick Barrus, SGA vice president said.

LITTLE MAN ON CAMPUS

"WELL, I SEE YOU DIDN'T GET HIM TO RAISE YER GRADE."

Students Say Leftist Okay

"A communist on Central's campus?" The controversy aroused over the recent attempt to schedule a speech by Gus Hall, communist party leader, and the later cancellation by President Brooks has been great. This question has raised many eyebrows in the period since it was announced. Some said it would have brought only trouble and bad publicity to the school. Others hailed it as an example of true freedom of speech, and a chance to see what makes a real communist "tick."

To find out what the student body of Central Washington State thought we asked them the following student poll question: "How did you feel about having a communist speaker scheduled to speak on Central's campus?"

Ilene Parrish, senior: "I feel that it is part of our education to learn as much as we can about any subject."

Brian Stephens, sophomore: "If communism has so many good points that Americans can't listen to it and see that it's inferior, then maybe we ought to adopt it."

Nancy Balcom, Freshman: "I feel it would be interesting to hear Mr. Hall speak. I would like to know more about communism, not because I think it will be better than our system but because it is something people can only guess at, and I would like to know for sure just what it is all about. I don't feel that it can do any harm because I can't see how anyone could think communism on the whole could be better. But people should be aware of the aspects of one of our greatest threats."

Paul Bennet, senior: "I was in favor of the program because it offers students an opportunity to see the other side of the East-West issues."

Ron Hookland, Freshman: "I think we ought to have a well known anti-communist speak first on the subject so we can put the communist on the spot when he speaks."

Kari Koppen, Freshman: "I say it was a good idea because one should have an open mind and be familiar with the other side's opinion. Also, as people supposedly standing for freedom we should know what we are fighting against. I myself would like to find out what Communism stands for!"

Paul Bedard, grad. student: "I think it is a good idea, however, I feel that they ought to have someone from both sides speak."

Gaye McEachern, senior: "I think that it's part of our basic democratic belief that we should grant freedom of expression to everyone; not just those we agree with."

Students Allowed Use Of CWS A-V Equipment

Students of CWSC may use audio-visual equipment during library hours and in the rooms provided for this purpose. Students are asked to return equipment promptly and not take it to the dormitories, Charles W. Wright, director of visual education said.

These restrictions are necessary because of limited equipment and tight scheduling, he said.

Pre-Graduate Aid Offered To Central Upperclassmen

Editor's note: This is the first in a series of articles on pre-graduate assistantships. In the coming three weeks, the Crier will run features on three CWSC students who now hold these assistantships.

Central students who show exceptional ability in their major field of interest and are thinking of teaching college have the opportunity to receive part of both their undergraduate and graduate education paid for by the Ford Foundation. The program is administered through the University of Washington to a group of eleven Pacific Northwest colleges and universities.

"The object of the program is to pick qualified people interested in college teaching, give them a two year assistantship for their junior and senior year, and a one year fellowship to work on a master's degree in their field," Dr. J. Wesley Crum, dean of instruction said.

System Competitive
At the present time the system of selection begins with a nomination by a local college department, or professor, of a capable student whom the nominator feels would be a credit to college teaching. The final selection is made by a committee at the University of Washington. The system is competitive in that only the very best students are allowed admittance to the program. Interested people should see their department heads, or Dr. Crum at his office in the Administration building. Applications for next year are due April 1, 1962.

Candidates in all fields of endeavor may receive an assistantship; however the fields primarily covered are: science and math, English, foreign languages, and history. The foundation grant pays $350 a year to juniors, $600 a year to seniors, and around $1200 a year to graduate students. The candidates must be re-evaluated for every year they choose to stay in the program.

"The pre-graduate assistants are expected to spend from twelve to twenty hours per calendar month working with the professors to whom they are assigned. This work is varied and is of a nature to contribute to the fulfillment of the cooperative program," Crum said.

Work Varies
Examples of work carried out by the assistants includes assistance in preparing tests, term projects, syllabi, bibliographies, etc. They also aid in project evaluations, individual student help; and may occasionally teach a lesson, or some lessons.

Vetville Site Of Dining Hall

Completion of the new dining hall is scheduled for fall quarter, Edward Erickson, director of public relations said.
The building estimated at $500,000 to $600,000 will seat approximately 600. It is of cement construction.
Work is steadily progressing on the building. Plans for landscaping, new sidewalks, and a bridge over the canal are in the making.
The 42 unit Vetville has housed hundreds of students during the years it served as student housing at Central, Erickson said.

IS STUDYING NECESSARY?

Once there were three roommates and their names were Walter Pellucid, Casimir Fing, and LeRoy Holocaust and they were all taking English lit. and they were all happy, friendly, outgoing types and they all smoked Marlboro Cigarettes as you would expect from such a gregarious trio, for Marlboro is the very essence of sociability, the very spirit of amity, and very soul of concord, with its tobacco so mild and flavorful, its pack so king-size and flip-top, its filter so pure and white, and you will find when you smoke Marlboros that the world is filled with the song of birds and no man's hand is raised against you.

Each night after dinner Walter and Casimir and LeRoy went to their room and studied English lit. For three hours they sat in sombre silence and pored over their books and then, squinty and spent, they toppled onto their pallets and sobbed themselves to sleep.

This joyless situation obtained all through the first semester. Then one night they were all simultaneously struck by a marvelous idea. "We are all studying the same thing," they cried. "Why, then, should each of us study for three hours? Why not each study for one hour? It is true we will only learn one-third as much that way, but it does not matter because there are three of us and next June before the exams, we can get together and pool our knowledge!"

Oh, what rapture then fell on Walter and Casimir and LeRoy!

They flung their beanies into the air and danced a gavotte and lit thirty or forty Marlboros and ran out to pursue the pleasure which had so long, so bitterly, been missing from their lives.

Alas, they found instead a series of grisly misfortunes. Walter, alas, went searching for love and was soon going steady with a coed named Invieta Breadstuff, a handsome lass, but, alas, hopelessly addicted to bowling. Each night she bowled five hundred lines, some nights a thousand. Poor Walter's thumb was a shambles and his purse was empty, but Invieta just kept on bowling and in the end, alas, she left Walter for a pin-setter, which was a terrible thing to do to Walter, especially in this case, because the pin-setter was automatic.

Walter, of course, was far too distraught to study his English lit, but he took some comfort from the fact that his roommates were studying and they would help him before the exams. But Walter, alas, was wrong. His roommates, Casimir and LeRoy, were nature lovers and they used their free time to go for long tramps in the woods and one night, alas, they were treed by two bears, Casimir by a brown bear and LeRoy by a kodiak, and they were kept in the trees until spring set in and the bears went to Yellowstone for the tourist season.

So when the three roommates met before exams to pool their knowledge, they found they had none to pool! Well sir, they had a good long laugh about that and then rushed to the kitchen and stuck their heads in the oven. It was, however, an electric oven and the effects were, on the whole, beneficial. The wax in their ears got melted and they acquired a healthy tan and today they are married to a lovely young heiress named Ganglia Bran and live in the Canal Zone, where there are many nice boats to wave at.

In case you worry about such things, their wife is a Marlboro smoker, too, which adds to the general merriment. Marlboro is ubiquitous, as well as flavorful, and you can buy them in all 50 states as well as the Canal Zone.

Students Form Convention

Delegates Choose Candidates For Annual General Elections

Central's first Student Government nominating convention is over and 17 students have their names placed on the ballot for the SGA general elections to be held Tuesday, Feb. 13.

Since there was not over four candidates running for any one office at the time of the convention all students nominated by a delegate had their names placed on the ballot.

Those students running for president of the Student Government Association are Mick Barrus, the present SGA vice president; Richard Davis, editor of the Hyakem; and Soren Sorenson, an officer in the advanced ROTC program.

For the office of vice president of SGA, Bob Moawad and Jim Mattis received the votes of the convention which placed their names on the ballot.

The contest for the position of SGA secretary will be carried out between Kathy Drebeck and Pat Johnson. Those students running for treasurer are Dick Jacobson, Toni Ryden and Ruth Friebus.

Although only three women, Sandy Lewis, Margie Swift, and Sunny Murdock and two men, Dennis Hubbard and Ken Brachmen, filed for the office of an Honor Council member, seven students are running for the office. This is because the constitution states that a minimum of three students must be running for each of the two open positions for men and women on the council. Therefore, the Student Government Association placed the additional names of two men, Ward Jamieson and Bill Goodman on the ballot for the office.

The Honor Council candidates did not go through the convention like the other candidates did. Interested students filed for the office in the SGA office and then were introduced to the delegates and interested students at the convention at the Friday night session.

Because the different offices did not have over four candidates for any one of them there was only one vote taken per office. For the different offices the voting went as follows:

The office of SGA treasurer was the first one upon which the delegates of the convention took action. Of the 171 votes cast by the delegates Miss Friebus received 19; Jacobson, 122; and Miss Ryden 30.

For the office of secretary 174 votes were cast. Of these Miss Johnson received 92 and Miss Drebeck captured 82. In the scramble for the votes in the vice presidential race, Mattis received 77 of the 173 votes cast and Moawad captured 96.

When the voting was over for the position of SGA president, Davis had got 32 votes, Sorenson, 41; and Barrus had received 91 votes of the 174 cast. The voting for the candidates for the presidency, as like the other, was done by a roll call of the delegations. For the presidential candidates the balloting breakdown was:

Alford hall gave its five votes to Barrus; Carmody, 1 to Sorenson and 4 to Barrus; SGA constituted clubs, 4 Davis, 3 Sorenson, and 12 Barrus; Dixon, 5 Barrus; Elwood manor, 5 Barrus; Glyndaur, 1 Davis and 4 Barrus; Kamola, 5 Davis, 2 Sorenson, and 14 to Barrus with one absent delegate not voting.

Of its nine votes, Kennedy hall gave 2 to Davis, 3 to Sorenson, and 4 Barrus; the Married students gave 5 votes to Barrus; Montgomery, 2 Davis, 3 Barrus; Munro, 5 votes for Curt Pickett; Munson, 6 Davis, 6 Barrus; North, 2 to Davis and 8 to Barrus; Off Campus, 10 Sorenson, 2 Barrus with three abstentions; Stephens, 11 Sorenson.

Sue Lombard hall gave all 11 of its votes to Barrus, West, 1 Davis, 3 Barrus; Whitney, 11 Sorenson; and Wilson hall gave 9 of its votes to Davis with one abstention. Vetville did not participate in the nominating convention.

DEMONSTRATIONS WERE ENTHUSIASTIC AND NOISY as interested students and delegates at the convention showed their support for their favorite candidate. Props for the demonstrations ran all the way from signs and confetti to gongs, car horns, sirens, and an old dishpan which one student beat with a mallet.

Backers Plan Noise Rallies

Any uninformed observer would have thought that Halloween, New Year's Eve, and the Fourth of July had hit Central all at once last Friday night. Candidates for SGA offices heralded themselves into campaigning with demonstrations during Central's nominating convention.

Noise-making instruments included tin cans, spoons, bells, black and orange horns, dish pans, car horns—every imaginable item. One tall boy was even seen carrying his bongos into the auditorium, accompanied by a lad with a ukelele.

In the balcony, one of the presidential candidates had a gong set up. Another candidate's supporters had set a large red steel cylinder—that looked much like an ancient bomb—up in the balcony. During the 5 minute demonstration after the candidate's speech, (Continued on Page 5)

Speaking of CENTRAL . . .

BY JIM TALBERT

Central's first Student Government Association nominating convention is over and there is little doubt that it was a success. It is true that the crowd was small but it was an enthusiastic one which made the most of its opportunities to help its favorite candidate while on and off the floor of the convention.

When the old system of selecting students to run for the SGA executive positions, filing in the SGA office, is compared with the nominating convention, there was not a great deal accomplished that was not done before. But one thing was added this year and it is a very important contribution to the elections. This one addition is an intangible substance called interest, student body interest.

By involving not just the students interested in running for office but a good sized group from all the living groups and members from the many SGA constituted clubs on campus a great many more people were brought directly into the action of the convention and therefore the elections.

Through the experiences and ideas they gained in their jobs as delegates, the students will be able to help inform their friends and other people surrounding them. In this way, Central will have a student body electorate which is more fully informed and interested when the general elections are held on Feb. 13.

In the years to come, the nominating convention should continue and expand as it is used. This year approximately 250 students were present in the auditorium either as delegates or just because they were interested. Much of the talk concerning issues and parliamentary procedure went right over the heads of many of the people present. This was especially true of the first night. Situations like this are not unusual when new things are started and they will improve as the need for their use increases.

Many good things have been accomplished under the administration of Curt Pickett, SGA president. This nominating convention which was the brain child of the execs was organized and brought into being by the SGA secretary, Mary Hooper.

For the enormous amount of time and effort Miss Hooper has put into the convention to make it the success it has been, she deserves in some way a show of appreciation from the student body of Central. Other members of the SGA executives, who participated in the convention, Curt Pickett, who worked as the convention chairman; and Roberta Schwarck, secretary, should also receive the thanks of the student body for a job which was excellently done.

Next year, let the SGA nominating convention be held again and in the coming years become an annual part of the SGA elections on the Central Washington State College campus.

Although Americans are getting taller and heavier, hat manufacturers report that most people still buy hats size 7½ or smaller.

Only one species of armadillo is found in the United States. It is the nine-banded armadillo, about the size of a house cat.

DELEGATES AND CANDIDATES FOR OFFICE WERE not the only ones who experienced suspense and tension as the voting proceeded on the candidates. Tarry Clifton, recording secretary, often felt it as the official count was taken and checked against the one she kept on the black board.

RATHER THAN HAVE SGA PAY FOR PICKING UP confetti thrown by supporters of various candidates, students turned politicians now turned janitors are in front: Jim Mattis and back Bob DeGroot, members of the Stephens hall delegation. Whitney hall also helped while Kamola supplied the brooms for the operation.

Students Find Politics Fun At '62 Nominating Confab

BY DENNIS HUBBARD

The 1962 nominating convention was filled with excitement, fun and a great deal of political education when seen through the eyes of a convention delegate. The experience gained from this activity will be remembered for a long, long time; and undoubtedly lead to many a dorm bull session.

After much discussion, passionate "breast beating," and inter-group beckerling the amended rules were accepted, and nominations proceeded.

First on the agenda was the selection of the treasurer candidates, which the delegates quite naturally felt very heatedly about since it concerned money, (the most talked about, popular item since the invention of green ink.) It was then that the prolific tongues of Central's own versions of John Kennedy, Adlai Stevenson, Richard Nixon, and Barry Goldwater were given an opportunity to be heard, and heard they were. Sweet words and strong promises marked the introduction of Toni Rydman, Richard Jacobsen, and Ruth Friebus.

Secretary Candidates Speak

Next on the campaign trail were the nominations for secretary to fill the size twelve shoes of Mary Hooper, who has worn them with distinction this past year. Again the golden throated orators poured forth their platitudes, and when the smoke cleared Kathy Drebiek and Pat Johnson stood ready to accept the challenge offered by their fellow students.

Vice presidential nominations began with a flourish that promised an exciting campaign for the two weeks preceding the election. Jim Mattis and Bob Moawad battled it out for the top position on the roll call vote with an ability that would have done credit to a Lyndon Johnson or Henry Cabot Lodge.

The top executive spot was the bone of contention as three candidates took up the challenge to become Central's next SGA president. Backed by their various dorms and coalitions; Richard Davis, Soren Sorenson, and Mick Barrus offered their abilities and experience for the job of sailing Central through the 1963 school year.

Phrases Find Expression

It was an exciting segment of life: marked by demonstrations, smoke breaks, taut emotions; and by statements from such living groups as the married students. But those who took part realized that underlying its enjoyment was a serious purpose: the production of the best possible student government. This is what the tired delegates, behind in their studies, weary from argument and discussion, got for their time and troubles. Whether it was worthwhile depends upon student interest in the coming elections, it can only be answered by the individual Sweetecian.

SGA Convention Transforms Quiet Students

Nominees See Quick Change

It this guy trying to fly? No—he's just a son of the north delicately maneuvering his way through Friday night's convention.

Bob Biersner, a delegate chairman from North hall, was one of several who added a true flavor of politics to Central's nominating convention. With a voice that sounded much like the Wendell Wilkie of earlier years, the bespectacled Biersner threw his glittering generalities and gushing glomourasisms at delegates.

"In this hour of confusion and crisis..." he loudly and boldly began nominating a candidate for one of the SGA offices.

Said an anonymous friend of Biersner's during the convention—"And that guy is such a quiet person back at the dorm!"

* * *

Another person that seemed hardly the "quiet type" was Agatha Plushbottom with her purple plume. Agatha loudly announced that her candidate should be able to fit into the shoes of Mary Hooper, present SGA secretary—"She wears size 12, too," Miss Plushbottom said.

Mary Hooper later indignantly denied that she had size 12 shoes. "They're size 12½!" she claimed.

Other speakers during the nominating convention differentiated their living group from others by giving it a certain title.

Munro called itself the "den of rugged individualism," while Carmody dubbed itself as "that little bungalow of intelligence over the hill."

* * *

Biersner, Agatha Plushbottom, and other speakers were real "radiators of the light" (to use one of Biersner's over-glowing phrases.) Their on-the-scene enthusiams made behind-the-scene enthusiasm worthwhile.

School Paper Publishes Special Elections Issue

The Campus Crier's annual SGA election issue will be printed next Friday, Feb. 9, Jeanie Smith, Crier editor said.

It will contain pictures and stories on the experience, qualifications, and platforms of the various candidates for the Student Government Association offices.

The Crier will not, however, put out a special issue of the paper announcing the winners of the SGA elections the same day the students go to the polls as it has done at times in the past.

In the year 1960-61 there were 28,600,000 students enrolled in the public school system, from grade kindergarten through eighth grade. There were 9,000,000 students in grades nine through 12 during the same year.

Backers Plan

two boys energetically pounded the cylinder with some sort of clubs. Amidst the intermittent confusion, convention chairman Curt Pickett said that he would "recognize any delegate if he could see or hear him."

After the first unchecked use of newspaper confetti, Pickett warned delgates that the clean-up bill would be sent to SGA, and advised against use of confetti.

Friday night, though, Stephens Hall volunteered for clean-up duty. Whitney quickly added their manpower to the task; and North followed and said they would help in "cleanin' up the trash!"

Not to be outdone, Elwood Manor rose and said that they would be glad to supervise the cleaning up. Stephens, originator of the idea, swiftly and loudly refused Elwood's help.

It took the girls, though, to make sure that clean-up would be completed. Kamola Hall volunteered the use of its brooms and dust pans.

"GIRLS, GIRLS EVERYWHERE AND EVERYONE with a vote." This could very well be running through the minds of these two members of one of the men's dormitories as they caucus with from the left: Bev Devine, Kathy Drebiek, Paulette Ellingson, and other members of the Sue Lombard delegation. Each living group had one delegate for every 10 students in it and each SGA constituted club had one delegate to make up the 19 individual delegations which took part in the convention.

Cagers, Swimmers Host Opponents

Aquamen Seek Third Straight

Bringing home two new school records, the Wildcat swim team defeated Eastern State at Cheney last Friday, 51-43, to set their season record at two meets won, three lost. Conference diving champion, Bill Ishida, set a new diving record with a 200 point total.

In the 100 yard free-style Duane Bangs broke his own school record with a time of :57.8.

Only Behind Once

From the opening gun Central was only behind once, as they lost the first event, the 400 yard medley relay. From then on it was their own show.

Bob Darrigan and Jay Sprouse, the latter a steady improver, took first and second in the 220 free-style, Bangs won the 50 yard free-style, and Ishida set his diving record to bring the score to 22-21, which was as close as Eastern could keep for the rest of the meet.

Then Dave Wenger and Darrigan took first and second in the 200 yard butterfly, Bangs set his 100 freestyle record, and Darrigan and Sprouse again got a first and second, this time in the 440 free-style.

In the 200 yard breaststroke Bangs again wrestled a first to bring the score to 51-36, Central.

Eastern Wins Final

Eastern copped the final event, the 400 yard freestyle relay, but it was only worth seven points, as Central took the meet, 51-43.

Today the Wildcats host the strong University of Puget Sound swim team. The meet will begin this afternoon at 2 p.m.

Swim coach Harold Fieldman urges those who have shown a desire to serve as timers and judges for the Evergreen Conference Swimming championship meet, which will be held at Central on the 23 and 24 of Feb., to contact him as soon as possible so that some practice sessions may be held.

The results:

400 medley relay—Eastern, 4:34.3.
220 freestyle—Darrigan (C), Sprouse (C), Burger (E), 2:35.5.
50 freestyle—Bangs (C), Yamashita (E), Strom (E), :25.5.
200 individual medley—Willman (E), Hovde (C), Wenger (C), 2:39.2.
Diving—Ishida (C), McKie (E), Loomis (E), 200 points, (new Central record).
200 butterfly—Wenger (C), Darrigan (C), Crawley (E), 3:01.2.
100 freestyle—Bangs (C), Willman (E), Yamashita (E), 57.8 (new Central record).
200 backstroke—England (E), Thompson (C), Burger (E), 2:38.5.
440 freestyle—Darrigan (C), Sprouse (C), Crawley (E), 5:46.
200 breaststroke—Bangs (C), Sterling (E), Kay (C) disc, 2:54.4.
400 freestyle relay—Eastern 4:08.4.
Meet results—Central 51, Eastern 43.

Grapplers Travel To Walla Walla

Central's Grapplers travel South tonight to meet the Whitman College Pioneers at Walla Walla after splitting on two road trips last weekend.

The Wildcats trampled over a hapless Linfield College team by a resounding score of 32-0. They weren't so lucky the next night however, as they only won one match and lost to the tough Portland State College grapplers 25-3.

Friday night the Wildcats picked up wins in every division with three victories coming by pins, four by decisions and one by forfeit.

Jerry Ronk picked up a forfeit in the first of the evening when the locals failed to give him an opponent in the 130 pound division.

Winning via the pin route were Craig Schorzman in the 123 pound division, Steve Minatani in the 137 division and big Kan Salyer for the 177 pounders.

Also winning for the Cats were Ed Segrave, 147; veteran Bill Elliott in the 157 division; LeRoy Johnson, 167 and big Joe Hauser for the heavyweights.

It was a different story against the veteran Portland Staters the

MIA B. Ball Season Half Over, Find Perfect Records Scarce

With better than half of the MIA basketball season gone, the teams are bunched in their respective leagues.

Married Student Housing has a perfect record in the American to hold the top spot, followed closely by Wilson I, Stephens I, and Whitney I.

In the National League Elwood Manor II commands the top rung along with a 3-0 record.

North II and Whitney II are fighting it out for the number one position in that league, both being 4-0 in league play.

In the Sweezy League Off-Campus II and Fire Station are contending for the top spot. Each team has a 2-0 record.

'Cats Attempt To Reverse Score Against Loggers

BY BILL FAGER

The Wildcat hoopsters, currently in the Evergreen Conference cellar with one win and four losses, will again bounce back into league action after a lull in Conference activity, when they host the University of Puget Sound club tomorrow night. Game time is slated for 8 p.m. in the Nicholson Pavilion.

League Action Resumes Today

Evergreen Conference Standings

Puget Sound	3	2	.600
Eastern Wash.	2	3	.400
Whitworth	2	3	.400
CENTRAL WASH.	1	4	.200

After a week's layoff, the Evergreen Conference swings in full action again this weekend with the Pacific Lutheran Knights out in front with a 3-1 mark.

The rampaging Lutes could almost wrap up the title with wins this weekend. Tonight they host the hot and cold Whitworth Pirates with Eastern Washington providing the competition tomorrow.

With 3-2 records, Western Washington and the slumping University of Puget Sound Loggers are given the best chance to overtake the Lutes.

The Vikings will trade opponents with Pacific Lutheran, meeting Eastern tonight and Whitworth's Bucs tomorrow night.

The surprise of the Evergreen season was the sudden drop of the University of Puget Sound Loggers. Riding on the crest of three game winning streak and the top position in the league, the Jacks suddenly fell apart and lost to Pacific Lutheran and Western on successive nights.

The slumping Puget Sounders will try to find the winning solution tomorrow night as they come to Ellensburg to meet the cellar

Maybe, just maybe, the Wildcats will banish all doubts against the Puget Sound Loggers that they are serious contenders in the Evergreen scramble and are ready to get back on the winning track.

Central's quintet will be out to avenge an earlier 71-70 loss to the Puget Sound club, with the services of a full squad, barring unforeseen injuries or an attack by the flu bug.

High scoring Jim Clifton and defensive ace Doug McLean have shaken a bout with the flu, and should be ready to go all the way.

In the first contest this season with the Loggers, Clifton dumped in 21 points, McLean fired in 15 points and Leon Sigler posted 10.

Guard Phil Fitterer, usually paired with Clifton, is currently the teams hottest scorer, and likely will be sharing the honors with Clifton, back for full duty.

At the forward positions, likely starters will either be rangy forward Sigler or rugged Jeff Kellman. Lengthy Ray Kinnaman will be at center.

Others slated for duty will be rebounding specialist Harold Rigan, hustling Bob Moawad and freshmen Roger Buss and Ron Scribner.

Two weeks ago, the Loggers were riding high as the king cager in the Conference derby with a 3-0 record, but were toppled from the crest by a pair of losses and are currently sharing a second place tie with Western Washington State College.

The Loggers fell apart at the hands of powerful Pacific Lutheran 88-65 and Western Washington 82-48.

RAY KINNAMAN leaps high in the air to score two points last Friday night despite the efforts of an unidentified Chapman College player. The Wildcats gave the highly ranked California team a real scare before bowing in the final minutes of the ball game by a 72-68 count.

Wildcats Lose Fifth In Row

Central's Wildcats took a short vacation from Evergreen Conference action last Friday and the preceding Wednesday with two losses on local maples, 83-64 to Seattle Pacific on Wednesday and 72-68 to a tough Chapman Panther team two nights later.

The win by the Falcons was their fifth in a row this season against Evergreen Conference opposition without a loss.

The Centralites never led in the contest, but were only behind by three points at halftime after pulling up to a 31-31 tie on numerous SPC miscues.

The second half, however, was all Seattle Pacific as the speedy visitors raced to a 53-40 advantage after eight minutes in the second stanza.

Freshman Jim Clifton led the locals with 15 points on six field goals and three for three from the foul line. Doug McLean added 10 points and 6-4 Harold Riggan hit on 5 foul shots and two field goals for nine counters.

The visitors outrebounded the locals 38-23 and outshot the Wildcats from the field .464 to .344.

Friday night the Cats gave one of the nation's little college powers a real scare before succumbing to tough Chapman in the final minutes.

The Wildcats were the first to lead the Panthers at halftime this year as they came out top in a see-saw first half, 34-31.

The Cats had led in the first period by as much as six points before the Panthers tied the score 27-27 just before the intermission and led 31-30 before Clifton hit a field goal and lanky Leon Sigler made two free throws to give the surprising Cats their halftime lead.

The second half looked for a time like the Centralites might run away with the game as Phil Fitterer hit for four quick field goals to increase the Cat lead. The lead was short lived, however, as the visitors used a full-court press to force Central into costly turnovers.

The Wildcats threatened once more as McLean hit on three quick lay-ins to close the gap to one point, 67-66, with less than three minutes to play.

McLean fouled out seconds later and the Panthers took advantage of a desperate Wildcat defense to sew up the contest with two long shots by Garry Larson, leading Chapman scorer with 23 points.

Central had four men in the double figures as Clifton shared scoring honors with Fitterer with 16 points. Sigler had 12 and McLean added 10, eight of them in the last half.

The Cats were again cold from the floor with a 29.4 percentage while the red-hot visitors hit for 57.3 per cent.

Week's Roundup

Central's wrestling and swimming teams boasted wins last week, but the hoopsters continued a prolonged slump as they took two on the chin by non-conference opposition.

The grapplers started the week-end with a resounding victory over a hapless Linfield College team, 32-0 but were met the next day by a superior Portland State team and a 25-3 loss.

Coach Harold Fieldman's aqua team avenged an earlier defeat by the Eastern Washington Savage team with an impressive 51-34 win which saw another Wildcat record fall.

Little Bill Ishida dove to a new record of 200 points to win his portion of the meet going away.

Woes continued to befall the Cagers as they lost to two of the top small college teams on the Pacific Coast.

The Centralites became the only team this season to lead Chapman College at halftime before losing 72-68 Friday night after an 83-64 drubbing by Seattle Pacific two nights before.

This week the cagers host the Puget Sound Loggers tomorrow night at the pavilion while NPS invades the pool this afternoon. The wrestlers will once again be on the road as they travel to Walla Walla to meet Whitman.

THE SIDELINER

By Lon Stamper

It's hard to believe, but the winter sports schedule has just about reached its climax.

The cagers have played 16 games, winning seven of them, and have only five left to play on the regular season schedule.

The aquatic and grappling teams are both going down the backstretch of their respective schedules. Eric Beardsley's wrestlers have split on eight matches and have five left while the swimmers have only one home meet left (today at 2 p.m.) and finish the season on the road before coming home to host the Evergreen Conference Championships.

"Oh, so close!" This is the story of the Leo Nicholson's casaba team.

While losing nine of their 16 contests so far, the Wildcats have been in practically every losing game right up until the final seconds.

Take, for example, their first conference loss to the rangy University of Puget Sound Loggers. The Wildcats had taken the lead with less than 10 seconds showing on the clock, 70-69, and had it wrapped up until big Bob Sprague tipped a "hanging ball" through the hoop with a play which is still controversial as to whether it took place before or after the final buzzer.

While the Wildcats are virtually out of the title race, look for them in a spoiler's role as the Conference heads for one of its closest races in a long while. There isn't a team in the league that can beat them, if they hit a hot streak. Also, remember that the Cats play three of the remaining games at home, which is a definite advantage.

One of Central's greatest success stories has been the rise, in a relatively short time, of the wrestling program here. In just their second season, the grapplers have run up an impressive record, including an early season win over the University of Washington Huskies.

Beardsley's ambitious program is fast making Central one of the top wrestling schools in the Pacific Northwest.

Tickets for the Military Ball will go on sale this Tuesday to all of the ROTC cadets and will be open for public sale on Feb. 15. Due to the limited amount of tickets that will be on sale, all persons that plan on attending Central's only formal are urged to buy their tickets early. Last year the tickets were sold out a week ahead and many people that had planned on attending the ball found they were unable to buy tickets, Cadet Captain R. J. Sule said.

Orchid corsages will be sold again this year by the Cadet Group. The corsages will be flown to Central from Hilo, Hawaii. Orders for the corsages will be taken this Tuesday, and all orders must be in by February 15. Corsage orders may be placed with Sgt.

On-Campus Students Have Choice Of Dorms

Students now on campus will have first preference in both the new men's and women's dormitories for next fall. Reservations for these residence halls may be made through the business office any time after the opening of spring quarter, Alice Low, dean of women said.

Assignments will be made on a percentage basis, first come, first served. Former students will be permitted to reserve rooms in these new dormitories up to 50 per cent of the total capacity.

Wysoski in the Air Science building. Since these orchids are ordered in such a large lot, a substantial saving is passed on to the purchaser, Cadet Captain Sule said.

The Queen for the Military Ball, the Co-Ed Colonel, will be chosen the night of the ball by the ROTC cadets in uniform attending the dance. The four squadrons and the cadet officers will each have a candidate for the coveted crown of Co-Ed Colonel.

Soft lights, coupled with soft music of Don Graham's orchestra will be the order of the day on Mar. 3, at the 11th Annual Military Ball.

SGA Treasurer Explains Incorporation Problems

By Roberta Schwarck

Incorporation at its best will not solve all financial matters of the Student Government Association. We would be free from the directives of the state purchasing policy, simply because our money would no longer be considered state funds. The burden of control, allocation, and purchasing would then lie with the student government.

This would mean the development of procedures of bookkeeping, purchasing and allocations which would provide minimum control yet maximum efficiency. This can be achieved by hiring a person responsible for the handling of money matters or by raising the qualifications for treasurer to provide for bookkeeping experience in addition to periodical checks made by a CPA.

It is not yet known what the administrative structure would be. It is important to organize our corporation to eliminate bonds being placed on our money by the administration. By working closely with the administration we can hope to do this.

In time incorporation of the bookstore and CUB would be possible. Purchasing of the inventory of the bookstore would be necessary. This would amount to somewhere between 80-100 thousand dollars. At present the bookstore is planning an addition to the building for which a reserve fund has been built up. Profits in excess of $3000 are being allocated to this fund. Financial statements have not been made available to the incorporation committee and therefore we cannot proceed intelligently nor responsibly to gain control of the bookstore. The CUB would need to be placed under the control and direction of student government. The budget of the CUB realizes little profit. A 30 year bond on the remodeling has yet to be paid.

We do not have funds sufficient to support the bookstore and CUB. Therefore I propose the following:

1. Obtain approval of the administration of our proposed structure for incorporation.
2. Take the necessary steps to incorporate.
3. Establish our financial department within SGA and give it a trial of 2-3 years.
4. Then move toward incorporation of the bookstore and CUB, which will take several years for SGA to accomplish.

If this is your wish you will need in the coming year and those following, to elect officers who are capable of intelligent thinking and reasoning. You will need students who are responsible and believe in quality student government and its contribution to all of you as educated, intelligent citizens.

Incorporation is needed now, but how well it is organized depends on how alert you are as students to the details of how it will operate. Instant incorporation is not the answer. We must first prepare ourselves to accept added responsibilities and then proceed slowly to our goal of incorporation of SGA.

CINEMASCOOP

15c Cinema Stars Late Ernie Kovacs

"Sapphire" and "Hell Below Zero" will be featured at the SGA movie on Feb. 2. "Sapphire" starring Nigel Patrick, Yvonne Mitchell, Michael Cgaig, Paul Massie, will start at 7:00 p.m. The baffling murder of a beautiful young music student, who lived a double life, is the basis of this absorbing detective story. Investigators discover the secret of her dual personality and arrest the murderer in an exciting and unexpected climax.

"Hell Below Zero", starring Alan Ladd, Joan Tetzl will be shown at 10:00 p.m. Actually filmed with the whaling fleet in the icy Antarctic, this is the dynamic story of modern whaling in the land of "Hell Below Zero."

Feb. 3, "The Great Imposter" starring Tony Curtis, Edmond O'Brien, Arthur O'Connell, Karl Malden, Gary Merrill, Raymond Massey, Joan Blackman, will be shown in the college auditorium at 7 p.m.

Tony Curtis deftly portrays Ferdinand Demara, and his amazing true-life adventures as six different men. Always one jump ahead of exposure, this uneducated, yet brilliant, young hoaxster successfully assumed the identities of a college professor, Trappist monk, Marine Corps officer candidate, prison reformer and Canadian Navy doctor during the Korean War.

"Wake Me When It's Over," also on the 3rd, will be shown at 10:00 p.m. starring, Ernie Kovacs, Margo Moore, Jack Warden, Dick Shawn. A soldier plans to build a resort hotel on a lonely radar outpost in the Far East, using Army surplus material.

Faculty Advisers Issue Mid-Quarter Standings

Advisors will have mid-quarter grades by Thursday, Feb. 15, Dr. E. E. Samuelson, dean of students said today.

Faculty will receive grade cards today. Instructors will then return completed cards to the personnel office by Monday, Feb. 12, and from there they will be sent to the advisors, Dr. Samuelson said.
